Additional Internal Audit notes for 2024/2025 AGAR

For the last few years, the JPC, under of the guidance of the Clerk, has consistently failed to comply with all the procedural requirements set by Statute, Government Guidelines and their own Financial Regulations. In January a new Clerk was appointed who immediately started to address these non- compliances, working closely with Internal Audit to address the higher priorities first. By the end of the last quarter of 2024/25 great progress had been made and the remaining corrective actions were on going or clearly scheduled for completion in the short term.

In light of this progress, Internal Audit considers that no constructive purpose is met by reflecting the earlier non compliances in the 2024/25 AGAR report. In order to give the JPC confidence that the ongoing situation is fully controlled and compliant , Internal Audit has conducted two further audits early in the new tax year and that have confirmed a satisfactory situation.
